A WORD ABOUT OUR ESTIMATES

You will note that after each lot listed in our auction sale catalogue, (wherever it could be determined), we have listed an estimate. It should be construed as merely that. It represents our best professional opinion as to what we feel a particular lot may be worth. You may bid higher or lower as you see fit but past experience dictates that you utilize our estimates as a relatively conservative guideline as to the current market value of the items listed. It must be noted, in particular, in the case of world coins, that the market conditions generate almost weekly price changes.

1455 1906. Proof Set of 7 Coins. Same as above. Y. 14-16, 18-21. ($375.-Up)

The ½C. and 1C. are completely Choice, both warmed with an exquisite touch of iridescent toning; the 5C. is fully Brilliant with a couple barely visible obv. hairlines; the silver coins are nearly completely Brilliant and Choice, there are some almost invisible hairlines on rev. of the 50C., and of the rev. of the Peso is only slightly subdued in brilliance in peripheral areas.

1457 1908. Proof Set of 7 Coins. Same as above. Y. 14-61, 22-25. ($375.-Up)

The ½C. and 1C. are Brilliant and warmly mellowed by beautiful iridescent toning; the 5C. Brilliant with light touch of golden coloration; 10C. Brilliant with a dull area in upper obv. where toning was removed with dip; the 20C., 50C. and Peso are all Brilliant, though there are naked-eye, yet unobtrusive hairlines on the 50C. and 1P.

YAP

Exceptional Yap Stone

1491 Stone Money Island of Yap. Circa 19th century. Crafted in limestone, not a perfect circle by any means, but rather heart-shaped. Measures approx. 12 ½" across through the center circle. or approx. 14" diagonally. Fully 2 ½" thick through the center, with the center hole 2" in diameter. Weight approx. 20 pounds. In generally excellent condition with no serious defects of any type, except for two small depressions on the reverse side. These are apparently natural imperfections in the limestone itself, or "planchet."

The center hole is necessary so the "coin" could be carried on a pole, and this was carefully drilled.

Stone money of Yap island must be classified as the "biggest money" ever used by man. Yap, situated in the Western Carolines in the South Pacific Ocean, has been a U. N. Trust Territory under U. S. Control since 1947.

The stone money became valuable because the large limestone discs necessary for its production had to be quarried on the Palau islands 200 to 400 miles away. Transporting the heavy discs involved considerable danger. Once the stones reached Yap, they had to be worked, without being broken, into their round or semi-round shapes. The largest known specimens reached 12 feet in diameter and weighed over 4,000 pounds.

Very few genuine specimens of stone money, big or small, have left Yap. Documents attesting to the genuiness of this piece are attached. Well worth a bid in the $1,200-1,500 range. (——)

The Hudson's Bay Company was established in London by royal charter in 1670 for the purpose of exploiting the Canadian fur market. Gradually accumulating power and territory over the years, the Company ran most of Western Canada from its London headquarters until 1868 when it surrendered its sovereign prerogatives in exchange for a generous financial settlement. (The company's headquarters were only removed to Canada in 1970 on the company's tricentennial!) From the 1820's, to encourage trade and with a cash shortage the Company issued notes at various "factories" (posts), all the notes being paid by exchange draw on London where the company furs were marketed. The 1820's notes were found unissued in books in the 1950's; the other notes are much scarcer.
